

Pick out the Adjectives of Quality in the following sentences:

1. I caught a small fish.
2. I heard a sad story from my grandmother.
3. Kolkata is a large city.
4. Dara Singh is a strong man.
5. I saw an old woman with grey hair.
6. The old man is sixty years old.
7. That child has worn a torn jacket.
8. Akbar was a wise king.
9. Today is hot and sunny.
10. Porus was a mighty warrior and a great king.

Small
sad large strong old, grey old, sixty
That, torn wise
hot, sunny mighty, great

Fill in the blanks with suitable Adjectives of Quality.

1. The grapes are sour.
2. The mathematical problem is quite easy.
3. Delhi is a big city.
4. Birbal was a clever courtier.
5. In winter the nights are cooler and longer.
6. The Principal scolded the naughty boy.
7. Anita is wearing a red dress.
8. Mother Teresa was a kind lady.
9. We should eat fresh vegetables.
10. We have an honest servant at home.

Underline the Adjectives of Quantity.

1. He gave me a lot of wheat.
2. She gave the beggar a few chappatis.
3. Much milk has been wasted.
4. Many boys played gulli-danda.
5. All must come to witness the match.
6. There is little hope of her recovery.
7. He has enough money to buy a dictionary.
8. I ate some rice.
9. He is a man of few words.
10. I have many story books.

EXERCISES

Underline the Adjectives of Number in the following sentences.

1. The centipede has a hundred legs.
2. A month has thirty days.
3. We want some men for our work.
4. More people came to the funeral.
5. We do not have enough tea cups.
6. Many roads have to be repaired.
7. Several glasses were broken.
8. She is sixty years old.
9. The student who stood first got a silver cup.
10. Few people came to witness programme.

nonstrative Adjectives

I. Circle the Demonstrative Adjectives in the following sentences:

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|---|
| 1. These boxes are heavy. | 7. Who brought those ice creams? |
| 2. Look at that rose. | 8. I like such flowers. |
| 3. Those are my shirts. | 9. Those workers are lazy. |
| 4. This necklace is not mine. | 10. Such leaders are popular. |
| 5. That car is in the garage. | 11. Those apples are rotten. |
| 6. I have seen that movie. | 12. That pupil is diligent. |

II. Make the following phrases Plural:

- that good, little boy
- this old, brown purse
- that big, ugly picture
- this nice, old man
- that huge, fierce animal
- such a lovely child
- this poor, little urchin

those good, little boys
these old, brown purses
those big, ugly pictures
these nice, old men
those huge, fierce animals
such lovely children
these poor, little urchins

Make the following phrases Singular:

1. these rotten apples
2. these naughty children
3. these rare and precious stones
4. those honest men
5. these silly jokes
6. such funny people

ogative Adjectives

This rotten apple
This naughty child
This rare and precious stone
That honest man
This silly joke
Such a funny person

EXERCISES

I. Circle all the Possessive Adjectives.

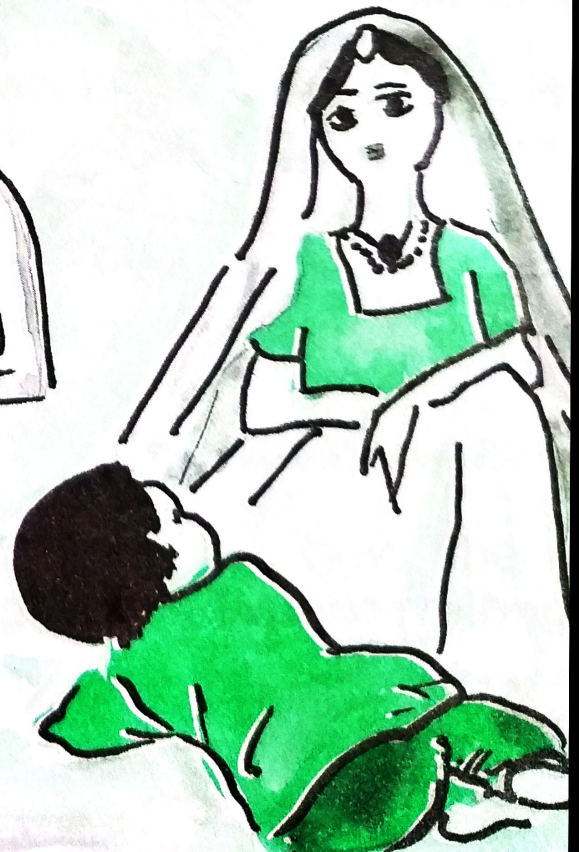

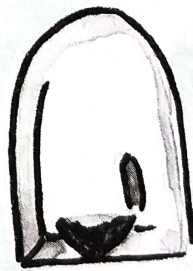

1. This is our car.
2. That is your seat.
3. Their bags are on their shoulders.
4. His pen is inside his pocket.
5. This is her cycle.
6. Her book is in her bag.
7. That is his shirt.
8. Their lunch boxes are in their bags.
9. That is our house.
10. They are with their parents.

II. Pick out the Adjectives in the following story and say what kind of adjectives they are:

The Rajputs were brave and noble, and the Rajputanis were no less brave than the men. This is the story of a brave faithful nurse named Panna, who saved the life of her royal chief by sacrificing her own son.

When the famous Rana Sanga of Chittor died, his son Udai Singh was only a baby. After a few years, Queen Karnavati, a noble and brave woman, ruled for a few years and died too. But before she died, she made Panna promise her that she would bring up little Udai, the future king of Chittor.

As the prince was young, the nobles of Mewar asked Banabir, a prince, to rule Mewar. He ruled for some time but soon became greedy and made a plan to kill the child. One night when Panna was sitting with her son, the servants of the palace came running to her saying that Banabir was coming to kill the baby.

She knew that there was one thing to do, and that she must do at once. She quickly took off the bright clothes of the prince and then put them on her own dear son. Then she laid him in the prince's bed.

She then took the prince and gave the child to a servant and asked him to take the baby to a safe place outside the palace and wait for her. Just then Banabir entered the room, and asked where the little prince was. Panna pointed to the bed. He killed the poor child with his sword and went away. Panna screamed and took her child in her arms and was heartbroken.

She went out of the palace and looked for the prince. He was safe with the servant. She took him to a man called Assa Sah. She told him that he was the future king of Mewar.